

Remove learning barriers. Improve organisational performance...

To create a compliance programme that results in improved organisational performance, you need to be learner-centred. After all, effective learning requires engaged learners. LRN's User Console is the central access point for your learning and E&C programme; designed to improve compliance outcomes by removing learning barriers, promoting programme engagement and ensuring high standards of accessibility.

...all while easing the workload of administrators.

With the User Console you can:

Catalyst Reach is a compliance learning system for creating and managing E&C training programmes. Using a comprehensive set of tools, you can deliver training that is easy for learners to access, complete and react to. In addition, you can save time and increase awareness by automating the communication and delivery of the curriculum while centralising your programme.

Create a highly engaged workforce

- Provide a one-stop learning portal for courses, disclosures, policy and hotline information and code of conduct
- Enable learners to meet deadlines by automatically adding calendar reminders with course links directly embedded
- Clearly display mandatory requirements with specific due dates and on-demand disclosures information

Increase user adoption

- Our modern design and intuitive UI create a favourable user experience and eliminates the frustrations commonly associated with compliance training.
- Increase usability with easy access to course history, disclosure submission history and disclosure communication history
- Make learner "to-do" lists easier to be managed with clear "action required" modules

Ensure a higher standard of accessibility

- Provide a one-stop learning portal for courses, disclosures, policy and hotline information and code of conduct
- Enable learners to meet deadlines by automatically adding calendar reminders with course links directly embedded
- Clearly display mandatory requirements with specific due dates and on-demand disclosures information

Easily build personalised learning experiences

- Our modern design and intuitive UI create a favourable user experience and eliminates the frustrations commonly associated with compliance training.
- Increase usability with easy access to course history, disclosure submission history and disclosure communication history
- Make learner "to-do" lists easier to be managed with clear "action required" modules

